

Andina Private Dining

Hello, we're delighted to introduce you to our Summer 2026 Private Dining Program.

The Andina Experience is a seated three-course dinner, with dedicated service in one of our private dining rooms for up to three hours, and the option to extend your time by adding a pre-dinner mingling hour for bocaditos (Peruvian hors d'oeuvres) and beverages.

Upon arrival, guests will be welcomed by our private dining service team who will take initial beverage orders and ensure all members of the party feel at home and find their seat at the dinner table. Our menu comprises a three-course, family-style dinner, priced at $110 per person. You will pre-select the menu for all attendees, and dishes will be presented on communal platters along the center of the table, allowing guests to enjoy a variety of Peruvian and local dishes. Our private dining menu provides a natural and comfortable service flow, with our team attentive throughout to manage drink orders, guide your guests through each course, and our sommeliers readily available to offer additional wine service.

Dinner service begins with our Entradas (appetizers) followed by our Fondos (mains) and finishing with our Postres (desserts). Our desserts are individually portioned and presented on platters for each guest's enjoyment as a sweet complement to the conclusion of dinner .

For parties desiring a mingling hour before their seated dinner, we invite you to select from a curated list of Bocaditos (Peruvian hors d'oeuvres), meticulously crafted, hand-held presentations, designed to provide a delightful introduction to the evening and offer additional time to mix and mingle.

Bocaditos may be added to The Andina Experience with a minimum spend of $30 per person for selections. The inclusion of Bocaditos extends your booking by one hour, allowing ample time for a welcome reception and drinks before dinner. An additional hour of booking without Bocaditos can be arranged at an hourly rate, which is contingent upon the specific private dining room. Kindly consult with your Event Coordinator for further details.

We look forward to hosting you all at our table, and please don't hesitate with any questions regarding your booking. See you all soon!
